

DYNAMICS 365 FINANCE + SCM VS. BUSINESS CENTRAL

Which One is Right for Your Business?

For most companies today, the determining factor for enterprise ERP software is no longer the organization's size but the complexity of the organization's operations. Unless your company requires the full capabilities of D365 Finance + SCM, you will do well to consider Business Central as a viable alternative for your next ERP.

The chart below compares many of the significant features of both applications. Your costs and implementation times may vary depending on your unique business situation. Your Microsoft partner will determine your actual costs and implementation times.
